The Djinn's Dilemma Mina Khan

"I'll take this hot assassin named Rukh trying to kill me any day;)
Oh yeah, he was that hot." -- Bitten by Paranormal Romance review, 2011

Rukh

O'Shay, half-djinn and assassin, is used to taking out the bad guys. But his latest assignment, Sarah White, is nothing like he expected. A glimpse of her bright aura reveals her gentle spirit, while her luscious beauty clouds his mind and makes him long for only one thing--to taste her. Sarah shares the feeling of raw desire at Rukh's touch. He can turn her on with a glance, and satisfies desires she didn't even know she had. But Rukh had been hired to kill her--and the only way to save her is to find out who wants her dead before someone else finishes the job....

EXCERPT:

Sarah's eyes popped open and she staggered back with a yell.

His arms tightened around her, steadying her, keeping her close. Well, shit. At least, she'd stopped crying.

Fear-bright green eyes stared at him instead.

Given

he was an assassin, sent to kill her, her response was natural, even intelligent. Yet, bitterness churned in his gut at the thought of her fearing him.

"It's okay," he whispered. "You're safe."

"Am I hallucinating?" Her question came out as a croak.

"Yes, yes you are." That seemed a much better answer than the truth.

She pinned him with her dark, direct gaze. "You're just a figment of my imagination. A fantasy?"

"Yes." He didn't dare move.

"Then why are you still wearing clothes?"
